Example form in the list of Arabic sources:

العامر، زياد بن حمد. «الأثر العقدي للقراءات القرآنية». مجلة الدراسات الإسلامية ٢٧ (١)،
٢٠١٥م: ١٠٩-١٣٧.

The example in the list of English sources translated into it as stated in the journal in which it was published:

Al-Amir, Ziyaad Hamad.. “Impact of Qur’anic Readings on Faith”.
Journal Of Islamic Studies 27 (1) (2015): 109-137.

In addition, stating some abbreviations if there is no statement for them in the reference data, as follows:

No editor = [N.edt]: No edition = [N.edt]- No date = [N.d]

Sorting the references alphabetically.

The list of references and sources shall include only what is referred cited the footnotes.

Citation: The journal adopts the University of Chicago Publishing and Citation Manual, the 17th edition, for English references and sources in particular, and the equivalent for Arabic references and sources. The researcher shall follow the academic method used in writing references, the names of researchers, citation and reference to primary sources, the ethics of academic publishing, and the guidelines and foundations included in the manual related to the elements of the research article (Available on the journal’s website within the researchers’ guidelines).

↳ Romanization of sources and references shall be at the end of the research in Latin letters for Arabic references only.

↳ The opinions expressed in the articles reflect the researchers’ viewpoints only, and do not reflect the journal’s policy.

◆ Fifth: the Research Track in the Journal:

1. Sending the paper to the journal website or e-mail is a confirmation from the researcher that the paper has not been published before, is not or will not be submitted to any entity for publication until the Journal name, Vol. (Volume Number), Issue (Issue Number), (Date of Publishing): the article's full number of pages as in the journal. A direct URL of the article – if any.

Example: al-Thanyān, Ṣāliḥ ibn Thanyān. “Allah’s Unchanged Laws “Sonan” in the Story of Moses and the Israel’s People in the Holy Quran”. Tadabbur Journal Vol. 6, Issue. 11, (2002 AD): 17-109.

C) Theses and Dissertations Citation

Author’s title, first and second name. “Title of the thesis between quotation marks”, the academic degree. published or not. the year in brackets (2016), and the page number.

Example: The list of Arabic sources and references is followed by a list of sources in English arranged alphabetically according to the title of the author. This list shall include the English original sources and references written in capital letters except for prepositions, definite and indefinite articles, unless they are at the beginning of the main or subtitle along with the sources translated from Arabic according to the next paragraph.

The researcher shall Romanize the Arabic sources into Latin letters, and include them in the list of English sources (while keeping them in Arabic in the list of Arabic sources), according to the following example:

Ibn Kathīr, Abū al-Fidā’ Ismā’īl ibn ‘Umar. “tafsīr al-Qur’ān al-‘Aẓīm”. Investigated by Sāmī ibn Muḥammad al-Salāmah. (2nd edition, Makkah al-

Naṣīf, Muḥammad ibn ‘Abd-al-‘Azīz ibn ‘Umar. “mlābsāt Al-Nuzūl Wa-Atharuhā Fī Al-Tawjīh Al-Balāghī Li-Āyāt Al-Qur’ān Sūrat Al-Jum‘ah as a Model”. Tadabbur 11, (2021 AD) : 196-266.

Excluded from this the articles published with an English title in their the source, as in the following example:

Example: ‘Alī ibn ‘Abd Allāh al-Sakākīr, “Al-Jazā’ Min Jins Al-‘amal Min Khilāl Sūrat Almsd”. Tadabbur Journal 5, (2018 AD) : 145. “retrieved on 07/05/2022” on Tadabbur Website:

<https://tadabburmag.sa/cmds.php?action=inpage13>.

F) Theses and Dissertations Citation

When the researcher quotes a text from a thesis or dissertation, citation shall be as follows:

Name of the author, “title of the thesis”, (the academic degree for which the thesis was submitted, published or not followed, the university granting the academic degree, (2016), page number.

Example: Abdullah bin Omar Al-Omar, “Riyadh - Meditation on the Noble Qur’an in Sheikh Al-Islam Ibn Taymiyyah” (Master’s thesis, unpublished, Imam Muhammad bin Saud Islamic University), (2016), p. 20.

◆ Fourth: Citation in the References Index:

A list of Arabic sources and references is attached to the article. The are arranged according to the author’s title, taking into account that the first line of the reference protrudes by a space as five characters, the so-called hanging indentation. Each part is separated by a period, not a comma, as follows:

A) Books

Author’s title, first name, second name. “Title of the Book”. The translator / investigator. Publisher details: (edition, place of publication: publisher, year of publication).

Example: Ibn Kathīr, Abū al-Fidā’, Ismā‘īl ibn ‘Umar. “tafsīr al-Qur’ān al-‘Azīm”. taḥqīq Sāmī ibn Muḥammad al-Salāmah. (2nd Edition, Makkah: Dār Ṭaybah Publishing and Distribution, 1999 AD).

B) Journals

Author’s title, first name, second name. “Title of the Article”. The Al-Bayān ‘an Ta’wīl Āy Al-Qur’ān”. Investigated by ‘Abd Allāh al-Turkī, (1st Edition, Saudi Arabia: Dār Hajar or Distribution, Publishing and Advertising, 2001 AD), 8: 50.

B) Journal Article Citation

The author name followed by a comma, research title in italics and underlined followed by a comma, writing “Vol.” indicating the Volume followed by a period, the volume number followed by a comma, (Issue) number followed by a comma, publication date in brackets followed by a colon (:), page number followed by a period, a direct URL to download the research followed by a period. The URL may be included in the list of sources and references.

Each of the previous volumes must be separated by a comma (,)

Example: Muḥammad ibn ‘Abd al-‘Azīz ibn ‘Umar Naṣīf, “Circumstances of the Revelation and its Impact on the Rhetorical Guidance of the Verses of the Qur’an, Surat Al-Jumu’ah as a Model”. “Tadabbur Journal, Vol. 6, Issue. 11, (August 2021 AD): 215.

<https://tadabburmag.sa/cmds.php?action=inpage82>

C) When the Reference is Repeated more than Once in the Article

It is enough for citation to mention the author’s title followed by a comma, name of the books followed by a comma, and the page number.

Example: Al-Ṭabarī, “Jāmi‘ al-Bayān”, 8 : 50.

D) Citation from more than a reference by two different authors.

The two references are separated by a semicolon.

Example: Al-Nawawī, “Al-Minhāj”, 311 ; Almrḍāwī, “aAl-Inṣāf”, 7 : 234.

E) If the Source is Viewed Online.

Citation is made from the source as usual and followed by the phrase “retrieved on / / , and the URL.

- Submitting a form or page stating the paper's relation to the fields of the journal.
- The research must be free from any linguistic, grammatical, and spelling errors.
- Quranic verses in the paper body are cited though mentioning the sura name and verse number in brackets; (Surat Al-Nesaa: 5)
- Prophetic hadiths are cited in the footnote though mentioning the Chapter and Book names and hadith number – when possible.

References Citation in the Footnote:

Citing the references and sources in the footnotes according to the following:

It is better to use specialized software to facilitate citation such as endnote, Mendeley, and Zotero. The approved citation system in the journal is the Chicago Style, Issue (17), 2017 according to the following details:

<https://www.chicagomanualofstyle.org/search.html?clause=book>

The Journal chose Chicago Style for citation due to its easiness, flexibility, and suitability to citing religious studies. the footnotes shall be as follows: indent, beginning of footnote, single space, one line space between paragraphs.

Quotations from books and other sources of information are cited in the footnote as follows:

A) Books

The author name followed by a comma (,), the book title between quotation marks (“”), edition number followed by a period (.), pace of publication followed by a colon (:), publisher followed by a comma (,), year of publication followed by a comma (,) putting the publication information between two brackets, and the number of volume and page are separated by a colon (:).

Example: Muḥammad ibn Jarīr Al-Ṭabarī, “Tafsīr Alṭbry-Jāmi‘
